PROFILE

My name is Anđela, I'm engage in front-end development for over a year. I love creating websites. Although I do not have a formal education in computer science, I manage to deal with every challenge I'm facing. The proof of that is a website that I've done for one dental office, and the two websites I've done for Malaga Creative Studio.
You can check my work in the links provided bellow. Also, you can check my blog, which I started writing recently, as a learning tool.
